Introducing an even better way to WiFi.

eero (2nd generation)

The gateway of an eero system, eero (2nd generation) has a third 5GHz radio, making it tri-band and 2x as fast as its predecessor. eeros also come with two auto-detecting Ethernet ports, allowing them to connect to wired devices and other eeros via Ethernet for even faster speeds and better coverage.

eero Beacon

Half the size of its counterpart, eero Beacon is 30% more powerful than the original eero and can be plugged directly into an outlet to easily expand your system. It also includes an intelligent LED nightlight with an ambient light sensor.

Replace your router in under 10 minutes
The app guides you through setup and placement. eeros automatically connect to create a wireless mesh network.

Intelligent software
eero’s proprietary TrueMesh™ software constantly finds the best route for your network traffic, switching paths to avoid interference. TrueMesh also intelligently switches a device’s connection between access points to always ensure the fastest, most reliable connection.

Stays news, gets better eero software automatically updates every month, keeping your system at the cutting edge. Since last year, we’ve updated eero networks over 30 times, bringing improved performance, new features, and security patches.

World-class security
Unlike traditional routers, eero provides automatic security updates and adheres to the strictest security standards. If a vulnerability is discovered, we can quickly update every system.

Easy-to-use app
With the eero app, you can check your network status, connected devices, and run speed tests from the app dashboard. You can also set up a guest network and create profiles to set schedules and pause the internet on kids’ devices.

Designed for the home
eero and eero Beacon are both designed to be compact and elegant, so they can be placed out in the open for optimal performance.

Connect it all
Ubiquitous WiFi is the future of the connected home, and with the addition of Thread — a low-power wireless protocol — eero networks can connect to a new category of low-powered devices such as locks, doorbells, and sensors.

Entertainment-grade WiFi
Whether you’re into music, video, or gaming — or all of the above — eero’s got you covered. With its incredible low latency, fast speeds, and whole-home coverage, you can stream 4K video wherever you want, however you want.
